

CONNECT. COLLABORATE. CATALYZE RESEARCH.

Kair, Laura

Dr. Laura Kair is Assistant Professor of Clinical Pediatrics at University of California, Davis, where she serves as medical director of well newborn care. Clinically, she is a pediatric hospitalist who provides well newborn care as well as inpatient pediatric care. Her research focuses on improving maternal and child health through identifying interventions that improve breastfeeding duration and decrease breastfeeding disparities. Toward this goal, she conducts clinical trials, cohort studies, and qualitative research studies. She serves on the Steering Committee of the Academic Pediatric Association (APA) Better Outcomes through Research for Newborns (BORN) Network, is a graduate of the APA Research Scholars Program, and was the 2017 recipient of the APA Nutrition in Underserved Communities Young Investigator Award. Dr. Kair is excited for the opportunity to collaborate and grow as a researcher as a new member of SPR.
