

Dow, Dorothy

Dorothy Dow, MD, MScGH

Assistant Professor

Duke University Medical Center

Duke Global Health Institute

Dorothy.dow@duke.edu

Dr. Dow is a pediatrician specialized in infectious diseases who has conducted pediatric HIV clinical research focused on prevention of mother-to-child transmission and improving HIV outcomes among youth living with HIV in Moshi, Tanzania. Dr. Dow has a Master of Science degree in Global Health and was a Fogarty Global Health Fellow 2014-2015. Her skillsets include both quantitative and qualitative methodologic expertise. She is currently funded through a NIH Fogarty K01 (International Research Scientist Development Award) to evaluate the impact of an enhanced HIV curriculum and intensive mental health intervention, Sauti ya Vijana (The Voice of Youth), to improve mental health, antiretroviral adherence, and virologic outcomes among youth living with HIV in Tanzania. Dr. Dow is co-site leader of the Kilimanjaro Christian Medical Centre-Duke University collaboration, a member of the Adolescent HIV Prevention and Treatment Implementation Science Alliance (AHISA), and co-chair of IMPAACT Study 2016, a multi-country, group-based intervention to improve mental health and ART adherence in HIV-infected adolescents in low resource settings.