

Cristea, A. Ioana

Dr. A. Ioana Cristea M.D., M.S. is an Associate Professor of Clinical Pediatrics at Indiana University School of Medicine. Dr. Cristea completed her pediatric residency at SUNY at Stony Brook, Stony Brook, NY and Pediatric Pulmonology fellowship as well as Children's Health Services Research fellowship at Riley Children Hospital at Indiana University. Dr. Cristea holds membership in numerous national professional societies including the American Thoracic Society, CHEST, American Academy of Pediatrics, as well as the Society for Pediatric Research. Dr Cristea's research and clinical interest focus on the health outcomes of extremely premature born patients who develop severe chronic lung disease of infancy. Additionally, Dr Cristea is assessing a life-like caregiver education with an interactive infant/pediatric simulator for the caregiver in order to increase their preparedness for trach-related emergencies at home.