

Eisenberg, Matthew

Matthew Eisenberg received his MD from Harvard Medical School and MPH from the Harvard school of Public Health. He did a residency and chief residency in Pediatrics at Boston Children's Hospital, and a fellowship in Pediatric Emergency Medicine at Boston Children's Hospital. Dr. Eisenberg's research interests include care of children with concussion, quality improvement and sepsis. His recent efforts have been focused on improving outcomes of patients presenting to the emergency department who have or are at high risk for developing sepsis.