The Division of Nephrology within the Department of Pediatrics at the University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health is seeking an academic Pediatric Nephrologist to assume the role of Division Chief.

We seek a leader with enthusiasm for academic medicine who will encourage, inspire, and empower division members. The Division Chief provides strategic and operational leadership; oversees divisional faculty and staff; spearheads the expansion of clinical, education, and research programs; and guides faculty professional development. This is an opportunity for a full-time Professor, Associate Professor, or Assistant Professor.

The members of the Division of Nephrology provide compassionate, specialized care to children with kidney disorders, including hypertension, congenital abnormalities of the urinary tract, kidney stones, inherited and acquired kidney diseases, and acute and chronic kidney failure that requires transplantation. Program members also provide care for children with metabolic bone disease via a multidisciplinary Regional Bone Clinic. Research is being conducted in the areas of transplant, dialysis, metabolic bone disease, AKI, neonatal outcomes, palliative care, and rejection biomarkers, among others.

The Department of Pediatrics is a vibrant academic department comprising more than 200 faculty members in 16 subspecialty divisions. The department promotes and enhances the health of children through outstanding clinical care, exemplary education of pediatric trainees, performance of cutting-edge research, and vigorous advocacy.

The University of Wisconsin–Madison is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action educator and employer.
